

BUSINESS IMPROVING BUT GREED OF MINORITY RETARDS IT, SAYS GARY

Opposes Further Wage Cuts In Steel Industry and Steel Prices Cannot Come Down Until Cost of Living is Reduced---Is Encouraged By Attitude of Administration Toward Legitimate Business.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, May 27—General business throughout the United States is improving, but there must be further readjustment before the public begins to buy upon a normal basis, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, told the American Iron and Steel Institute here today.

"I am not at all discouraged, there is nothing the matter with the country," declared Judge Gary in his address opening the annual meeting of the institute.

Judge Gary declared that some of the prices charged for commodities are unreasonable "if not extortionate." He said that strict enforcement of the law is a vital factor in the restoration of normal conditions.

One of the most hopeful signs of the times, he added, was the apparent disposition of the national administration at Washington to help legitimate business. Judge Gary said that until wages are further decreased the costs of many steel producers will not permit lower selling prices. He is opposed to further wage cuts, however, until the cost of living comes down.

Judge Gary's speech, in part, follows:

"In the richest of all nations in property and money, with the greatest and most rapidly increasing resources, our people are not buying enough to supply themselves fully with the ordinary comforts of life, although they have the disposition and means to do so. The demand is and for some time has been below

"The great purchasing public has formed the opinion that there have not been consummated complete and proper readjustments of prices; and

"Assuming that the steel industry has been fair and reasonable in prices up to the present time, which I need not discuss now, for it is the purchasing public which decides these questions, yet it must be admitted, I think, that there have been and still are charged and collected for certain commodities unreasonable and unfair, if not extortionate prices.

"The vast majority of business men and workmen are sincere and fair, but there is and perhaps always will be a minority that ignore the principles of common honesty. They are sufficient in number to seriously affect the whole situation. Until these are aroused to the necessity of getting in line with sound and decent standards of conduct the full return to satisfactory business conditions will be more or less improved.

Now what, if anything, can be done to improve the general situa-

There is no standard for safe and certain progress in economic effort except an established rule of law which fixes and protects the rights of every one without discrimination.

"If laws shall be enforced and peace maintained the other questions will

"One of the most hopeful signs of the future of the United States is the fact that the public is beginning to understand the need for government supervision over organized industry in order to protect the public interests. I personally would not object, provided the laws and rules shall apply alike to organized capital and organized labor.

"What can be done for the steel industry? Would-be customers are delaying purchases, except for immediate and imperative uses, until satisfied that a sound and stable basis of prices has been established. There have been reductions and ad-adjustments. Others may be necessary, even in the steel business, before complete restoration of normal conditions. As to workers and wage-price producers and employees must be fair and reasonable, taking everything into account, fair towards each other and toward the general

"It is well known that at present, producers and until wages are further decreased the costs of many steel products will not permit lower selling prices. Personally, I think that under such conditions, wages must not be reduced until or about the time selling prices are lowered. I also believe it will be unjust to further reduce wages taken before the costs of living are lower. Most of

PREPARING FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Employees of the board of public works were busy today erecting the bandstand and placing the benches in city hall park for the Decoration Day exercises Monday morning. Wilbur F. Stowe of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. There will also be patriotic music by the band.

This Nurse Tells Mothers

How to Save Children from Skin Irritations and Soreness

West Carthage, N. Y.—"I am a graduate nurse, and I feel it a duty I owe to mothers whose little ones suffer from chafing, rashes, itching, scaling, or any skin irritation or soreness, to tell them that in all my experience as a nurse I have never found anything equal to Sykes Comfort Powder to heal and soothe the skin. Habitually used after a child's bath, it heals and prevents soreness and rashes."—Mabel E. Miller, R. N., W. Carthage, N. Y.

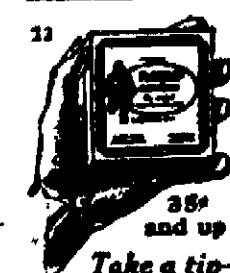

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

PEOPLE! THE TIME IS NOW!

THIS MIGHTY SAVING EVENT CLOSSES SATURDAY EVENING. SOON OUR BARGAINS WILL BE HISTORY.

I will wager that 50 per cent of you people in Kingston had your doubts about the genuineness of this sale. Get it out of your head quick. Let me tell you something. For years I have been doing this same kind of work and I have never yet lent the use of my name for any sale which was not on the square. There is not enough money in Kingston to tempt me. Now I want to tell you another thing. I promised Mr. Lovin half the stock sold on the night of May 28. Watch me keep this promise. These prices right now are lower than any dealer can buy them wholesale today. Every bit of merchandise is clean and new. Now then, if you want it, come and get it now while the assortment is still complete. If you don't want to save money on the things you absolutely must buy either now or in the near future, it is your funeral, not mine. It's talking plain. But it's true isn't it? I thank you,

What Careful Seed Tests Show

CAREFUL seed tests at Government Experiment Stations have proved over and over again that good drills—planting the correct amount of seed at the proper depth—add from 4 to 10 bushels to the yield per acre, over broadcasting and poor drilling.

Investigations wherever good farming is practiced will show Empire Jr. Grain Drills in the forefront in correct construction and in popularity.

A drill that is backed by a history of uninterrupted success is a pretty dependable implement. To plant the seed just deep enough and yet not too deep, and cover it evenly and compactly is forward-looking business sense.

The famous Empire double-run feed is the most positive feed ever placed on a grain drill. This is only one of a number of fine features that will interest you. We will welcome an opportunity to go over them, one by one, with you, showing you just how their construction serves to do such exceptional work. Our service is also a source of pride with us and we want to explain how it is ready for your every emergency.

This Nurse Tells Mothers

How to Save Children from Skin Irritations and Soreness

West Carthage, N. Y.—"I am a graduate nurse, and I feel it a duty I owe to mothers whose little ones suffer from chafing, rashes, itching, scalding, or any skin irritation or soreness, to tell them that in all my experience as a nurse I have never found anything equal to Sykes Comfort Powder to heal and soothe the skin. Habitually used after a child's bath, it heals and prevents soreness and rashes."—Mabel E. Miller, R. N., W. Carthage, N. Y.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

To Brighten Carpets.

Brighten your carpets after the dust has been beaten out of them by scattering on them cornmeal mixed with salt, and then sweeping them off. Spots can be removed by the use of ox-gall or ammonia and water.

PEOPLE! THE TIME IS NOW!

THIS MIGHTY SAVING EVENT CLOSES SATURDAY EVENING. SOON OUR BARGAINS WILL BE HISTORY.

I will wager that 50 per cent of you people in Kingston had your doubts about the genuineness of this sale. Get it out of your head quick. Let me tell you something. For years I have been doing this same kind of work and I have never yet lent the use of my name for any sale which was not on the square. There is not enough money in Kingston to tempt me. Now I want to tell you another thing. I promised Mr. Lovin half the stock sold on the night of May 28. Watch me keep this promise. These prices right now are lower than any dealer can buy them wholesale today. Every bit of merchandise is clean and new. Now then, if you want it, come and get it now while the assortment is still complete. If you don't want to save money on the things you absolutely must buy either now or in the near future, it is your funeral, not mine. It's talking plain. But it's true isn't it? I thank you,

V. L. SANDERSON, Sale Manager.

SWORE BY PEARY

Arctic Explorer Extremely Popular With Men.

Those He Commanded in Successful Expedition to the Pole Loud in His Praise.

April 6 already stands in history as an epochal date—anniversary of the victory which crowned a battle of nearly four centuries when, 12 years ago, Robert E. Peary "nailed" the Stars and Stripes to the North pole. In connection with this anniversary the National Geographic society has issued from its Washington headquarters a bulletin concerning the human qualities of the great explorer, based on a communication to the society by Donald B. MacMillan, a lieutenant on Peary's successful polar expedition.

The National Geographic society had a part in supporting Admiral Peary's expedition, and awarded him its special gold medal. Quoting Mr. MacMillan the bulletin says:

"Ever kind and thoughtful and considerate of his young and inexperienced men, he treated them as a father would treat his sons. He helped us lash and pack our sledges, untangled and repaired our frozen and knotted traces.

"When struggling along far in the rear, with refractory dogs and heavy loads, an Eskimo would often be detailed to relieve us of a part of our load and pilot us safely across an open lead, and if we arrived with front bitten face, it was often the commander's warm hand that brought the blood back to the surface.

"I well remember falling through the ice at 59 below zero. With seal-skin boots filled with water and rapidly stiffening clothes, I arrived at our encampment of snow houses. He beat the ice from my bearskin pants, pulled off my boots, and wiped my feet and legs with the inside of his warm shirt. And when covered with blood, a heavy 40-82 bullet having passed through my arm, into my shoulder, and out through the back and clipping the side of one finger, he remarked 'I would much rather had that thing happen to me than to you'.

"This does not sound like 'martyr' or 'tyrant' or 'unkind to his men.' His last words to Martin, lost on the return, 'Be careful of the leads, my boy,' is characteristic of the man. "If one word was written large upon the face of every man and upon the walls of every little stateroom in the steamship Roosevelt, it was the word enthusiasm, which may be translated into good leadership; for we felt our strength and our knowledge in arctic matters increasing day by day and beheld an equipment being perfected which we knew must win.

"Is it any wonder, then, that we as assistants when we heard the blowing of the whistles of Sydney, Nova Scotia, beheld the line of craft circling out to escort us into the harbor; saw waving flags and docks black with people, should be almost sorry that he had won out?"

"We knew that never again would we have the honor and the pleasure of serving under such a leader."

Blind Men Good Piano Tuners. It is a proverb of modern science that loss of one sense quickens the perception of another. It is the acute development of other senses which makes it possible for the blind to get about with increasing ease; it is the same truth which has given rise to the seeming paradox of the blind leading the blind about London in a fog.

But whatever of scientific fact is behind these things, it is certain from practical experience that the blind are excellent piano tuners. The New York Association for the Blind reports that many blind men coming under its care have become extremely proficient tuners, and that the number has grown to such an extent that the Blind Tuners' Guild of New York has been chartered, and monthly meetings are held. The present report of the guild shows that the amount of business has increased steadily as the skill of the members became known.

Cascara Bark.

A shipment of five tons of cascara bark from the coast valleys of British Columbia has revealed the fact that the only known supply of this valuable medicinal bark, in large quantities, is in British Columbia, the forests in Washington and Oregon having been completely stripped. Owing to the depredations of Japanese loggers, who ship to American and British drug firms, this valuable provincial asset is in danger of being exterminated, and steps are being taken to protect this valuable bark in order that it may be properly cultivated and in time become an established industry of British Columbia.—Scientific American.

Valuable Material From Waste.

A new Australian material, named "Kohman," is stated to be worked up entirely from vegetable waste, and is suggested as a promising means of utilizing large quantities of material. The composition is recommended especially for veneers and wall panels, but also for chair backs and other parts of furniture, and for many other purposes. It is said to give excellent imitations of marble. It takes with readily, is easily stained and worked with tools, and is polished with sand-paper, and may be stamped by hand.

Crackles Perpetual.

Perpetual crackles between the plates with which it is coated expands at a different rate from the clay of which it is composed. A manufacturer in Europe is now making a glass that has the same coefficient of expansion as porcelain.

Our boys were defeated on their diamond in S. V. York's field last Friday as their opponents were "professionals" of Saugerties while our own boys are only "beginners," having only been at it a month. Never mind, boys, remember Shakespeare wrote: "Do not for one repulse, forego the purpose that you resolved to effect," and try again.

Mrs. Sally Felton received word

To Sell Honey "Direct."

A novel idea and an innovation heretofore unheard of in the mercantile world will be introduced this season by an Iowa firm, proprietors of a general store. In connection with their grocery department, they will conduct a modern apian in the vacant rooms over their store.

The upper story of their building is infested with bees and recently the merchants removed several hundred pounds of honey from within the upper walls. There were no freight charges, overhead expense or middle-man's commission, and they are now installing several double decked hives upstairs for the accommodation of their benefactors.

The honey will be sold from the hive direct to the consumer.

THE SHADOW FOLK OF TAHITI

Pretty Legend Full of the Peculiar Romance of the Fascinating South Seas.

We were in the land of the Little People of the Shadows. We had been told that we must offer them all our possessions, but that they would take for themselves only the shadows of the things they wanted. So we put slender sticks on the ground, all along the open side of our room, between the high tree-roots, and hung on them our tapa garments, our necklaces and ornaments of feathers and of pearl and of green jade-stone. One precious thing we could not offer them, and that was the bracelet of iridescent peacock-shell set with cat's eyes of the sea. It had been put on my sweet heart's arm when she was a little girl and now she could not take it off.

We hoped the Little People of the Shadows would understand that the bracelet also would have been offered, then if it had been possible. I feared—and resolved to stay awake, to protect my sweetheart if they did not understand, but I was tired and soon fell asleep on the soft moss beside the open door.

Suddenly I awoke. The Ribbon of Light was all about, going and coming, and rolling, lighting up the open spaces, where hundreds of the Little People were carrying off the shadows of all the ornaments of our room on the slender sticks. They were dancing in the light of the Ribbon of Light, and the place where my sweetheart had been lying was no longer warm.

She was dancing in the light of the Ribbon of Light. I saw my sweetheart—my full-bodied woman, and beautiful one, the Flower of the Mountain—becoming smaller and smaller. She became a little child, the bracelet of shining pearl slipped from her tiny wrist, the Little People picked it up and hung it on one of the slender sticks, where its cat's eye glowed. Such, as they danced, my sweetheart, was no larger than the other Little People and was among them.

The Ribbon of Light rolled away among the trees and all was dark again. The Shadow Folk were gone, my sweetheart was gone to be with the souls of all the other people who have been lost in the forest of purple dreamland.—From the Shadow Folk: A Tahitian Legend, by E. Lloyd Seton, in Astor Magazine.

Not to Be Outdone.

During the after-dinner speaking, the toastmaster saw Jones, a somewhat shady character, slip two spoons in his vest pocket. When the last orator had finished he rose. "Gentlemen," he said, "there is nothing to add after all this brilliant speaking, so I will try to entertain you with a little parlor magic. You see, I take two spoons. I slip them in my vest pocket. Presto—and they are in the pocket of Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones, will you please corroborate my statement?" Jones, not to be outdone, rose. "I'm rather handsy at that sort of thing myself," he said. "Presto—and they are back in the pocket of the toastmaster. Mr. Toastmaster, if you don't corroborate my statement, I'll have you searched on the spot."—American Legion Weekly.

Of Course Not.

While mother was having her hair curled at a department store one of the clerks took a fancy to the little daughter, age five, and took her into one of the booths where she manicured her nails. The child's mother told her to thank the young woman and say good-by as she left. The child looked at the mother in a puzzled manner, and then said: "I don't know whether I shall or not. She wants me to be a naller when I grow up, and I don't want to."

BRISTOL PRAISES NEAR EAST RELIEF

Admiral's Commendation a Feature of Organization's Annual Report to Congress.

Washington. — Accounting for the disbursement of $19,128,117 in 1920 and a total of $60,000,000 to date, including food, clothing and medical supplies, the annual report of the Near East Relief, incorporated by Congress August 8, 1919, has been filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the relief organization. The report includes an auditor's statement by a firm of chartered accountants, whose traveling auditors in the field check all expenditures by the Near East Relief.

In regard to the business methods and efficiency of the organization Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States high commissioner to Turkey, is quoted:

"I have been very closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief Committee for about 22 months," Admiral Bristol reports. "On the whole, the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

Over a Million Saved
According to the report, 63 hospitals, with 6,522 beds, 128 clinics, 11 rescue homes, 200 orphanages, accommodating 54,000 children, and outside orphanages, caring for 56,000 children, have been maintained by the Near East Relief.

It is reported that approximately 2,700,400 Armenians are still living out of a pre-war population of about 4,000,000. In parts of Cilicia alone it is stated that 65 per cent of the Armenian Christian population perished from starvation during the war while in the whole of Syria not less than 25 per cent perished from the same cause. It is estimated that had it not been for the Near East Relief fully half of the present Armenian population of the Near East would have succumbed.

Educating the Young
In regard to the work among the children, Mr. Vickrey says:

"A few millions of dollars wisely expended at this time in the support, education and molding of these young lives will be worth vastly more to the world than billions of dollars that otherwise may later be required in suppressing warfare and strife. This work as an expression of brotherhood should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and interracial good will."

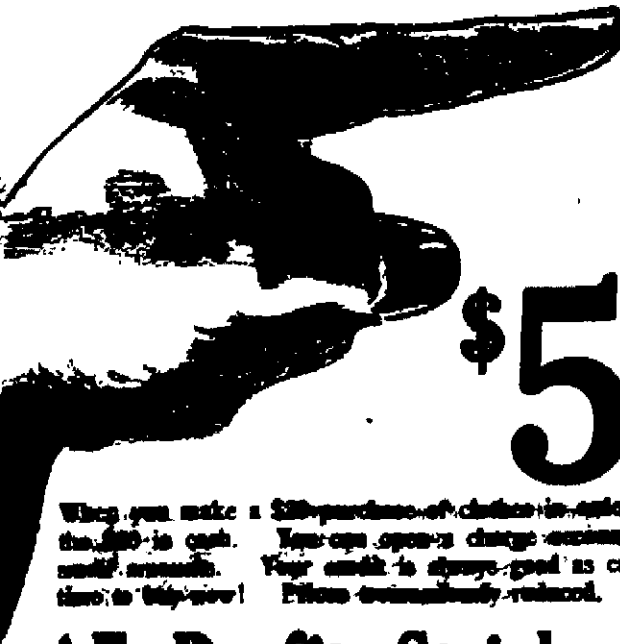

Has Own Idea of "Progress."
A different idea of progress from that usually held is given by A. Edward Newton, who, in the Atlantic Monthly, writes: "I was dining once in London, quite informally, with a great electrical engineer, a very trig man in attendance. On the table near my host's right hand was a small block of white marble and a tiny silver mallet. When he wanted the mallet he struck the marble a resounding blow. I was somewhat amused and asked him if he had ever heard of a push-button for the same purpose. 'My boy, I have,' was his reply, 'but I get enough of electrical devices in the city; I don't want a single one of them in my own home. I've not yet come to using gas; I prefer candles; they are not so likely to get out of order. I hate this pushing a dimple and waiting for something to happen. When I make a noise myself I begin to feel a sense of progress that's what we stand for in this country—with a knowing wink—progress.'"

"Safety Net" Worked Well.
The thrilling rescue of a four-year-old boy occurred in Brooklyn a short time ago. The boy had his tonsils and adenoids removed and was on the third floor of a hospital. The nurse left the ward for three minutes and when she returned she missed the child. The little patient had climbed to one of the windows, squeezed through the bars and was hanging outside. The flutter of the child's nightgown attracted the attention of passersby. Two young men stripped off their coats, knotted them together by the sleeves, and stretched them out as a makeshift safety net. A moment later the boy's grasp on the window ledge relaxed and he went hurtling down. But the safety net proved effective and he dropped into it unharmed.

Old Orchard Trees Bear Well.
That age is one of the assets of an old orchard is point of bearing is claimed by Edward Wyckoff, pioneer resident of the Woodland district, who has on display in the board of trade room from his old orchard on his place planted in 1875 by his brother, David Wyckoff, former sheriff of this county, a "Woodland (Calif.)" correspondence. Though 44 years of age, the orchard is the best bearing in the valley and the trees are strong and healthy. Records of the production are being kept for grandchildren that they may make some comparisons of crops when the orchard reaches the century mark.

People Looking Curiously.
If there is a shadow in your closet, rest assured that the few inhabitants of Easter Island, 2,300 miles off the coast of Chile and the remotest inhabited Polynesian island, will make an effort to bring it forth into the light as one traveler says of them that they are not curious enough to run around on the dark to look at the best that calls there about once in eighteen months. Curious stories, some humorous and some terrible, tell of an ancient people, are found on the island—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

OLD INDIAN RACE

"Red Paint Problem" is Interesting Archaeologists.

Explorations in the State of Maine have so far been inconclusive, but will go on.

Since the recent donation to the state of Maine of a number of boxes of relics, 3,500 pieces, there has been a renewed interest in the explorations going on in Maine in connection with the so-called Red Paint Indians. Several of the earlier explorations were around the town of Orland in Hancock county. Ernest O. Sugden, the town clerk, has long been interested in Indian exploration work, and has himself developed into quite an authority on the subject.

Mr. Sugden's curiosity in Indian explorations was first aroused in 1902, when C. C. Willoughby of the Peabody museum, Harvard university, explored the mound at Lake Umbagog in Orland. Mr. Sugden, a watch repairer by occupation, became a much interested onlooker. Prof. Warren K. Moorehead of the department of archaeology of Phillips-Andover academy also began explorations in Orland.

So interested did Mr. Sugden become in Indian exploration work that during the past eight years he has assisted in carrying on explorations in nine different states.

Prof. Moorehead says there is in Maine what the scientists call the "Red Paint Problem," so-called because of the quantities of red ochre found in the graves in the cemeteries of these people.

"The problem relates to a people of very great antiquity, which were quite different from Algonquin or other tribes known in early Maine history. Their graves are so old that no bones remain. The people seem related to the earliest Esquimaux. Only by the most careful hand-drawn work and minute observation during exploration of cemeteries or sites occupied by these people can we learn concerning their culture and antiquity.

"In these graves are found peculiar goggles, hatchet blades, flint spears, pinnets, long pendants, fire-stones and iron pyrites, and occasionally chipped arrowheads, but the latter are not frequently found."

A. H. Bridges of Waterville, who has long been interested in archaeology, called the attention of Gov. Milliken not long ago to evidences of the former existence of the Red Paint Indians in certain burial grounds in Waterville and Winslow.

"So far as known, the Red Paint men are the oldest culture of humans in North America," says Mr. Bridges. "They antedated pottery, as none has ever been found in their graves. They were spear-men, not bow-men, as only spearheads have been found in burials. They had no pipes, so knew nothing of tobacco as the Indians did.

"Stones for striking fire are common in graves, sheets of mica either for looking glasses or ornament are often found, goggles and spears and chisels were most common instruments of stone, well made and some ornamented.

"They had a printed language of peculiar character as traces on a chisel have been found. More of the language characters will no doubt be discovered as new cemeteries are excavated. No stone axes have been found.

"The most distinct and peculiar trait of these people is the use of red ochre from Mt. Katahdin region in their cemeteries, the stone implements being placed near each body in the grave. Traces of these people are found along the Penobscot valley, Androscoggin river, and last summer John T. Kelliker of Waterville located a cemetery on the Sebasticook river in Winslow."

"After considering the method of burial and the character of implements found in Red Paint graves," says Mr. Kelliker, "we can easily arrive at the conclusion that they were of a different stock from the historic Indians found here by the first Europeans, since it is well known that the custom of laying the dead in a shallow grave and covering the body with a layer of ochre, or of red paint, was not practiced by the Algonquin or Penobscot tribes of the Algonquin, who held sway over the Kennebec river region, nor of any other tribes of Indians in North America."

There have been discovered in Maine 18 of the so-called Red Paint cemeteries and there have been 400 graves examined.

Is Space Endless?
Einstein's theory that space may not be of infinite extent seems to have obtained endorsement by many eminent physicists.

Scientificists would not appear that, if this idea be accepted, the universe is to be regarded as a something of a closed system. For Einstein's own opinion is that a ray of light traveling 100 million miles a second would require a billion years to make a complete circuit of the universe.

"There's no way it should," replied Johnny. "My eating at meal times has not taken away my appetite for eating between meals."—Boston Transcript.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUTS IN WINTER CAMPS.

Winter camping for the Boy Scouts of America is at last becoming more popular than summer camping. Almost the entire membership of nearly 500,000 boy scouts in the United States last summer, 100,000 were enrolled for summer camps, and already the national headquarters has received reports indicating that the number enrolled for winter camps and week-end camps during the winter months will exceed 100,000 members of the organization. During the Christmas holidays 100 boy scouts from Greater New York encamped at Kadohahike Lakes in Interstate park, which is the site of the largest boys' camp in the world, where nearly 20,000 boys camped throughout the last summer season. This is the largest number of scouts that ever went camping together in the middle of winter in the northern states.

At the same time there were winter holiday boy scout camps in Pawtucket, R. I.; Lancaster and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Omaha and Minneapolis. These were what are known as "snow camps." At the same time there were many camps in the southern and milder climates, including Miami, Fla.; Birmingham, Ala.; Los Angeles, and in many other sections of the South. In the extreme South it has been found that the winter months are preferable to the summer months for camping and there the principal training camps of the year are held in these months.

There are many reasons why winter camps in the North are becoming so popular. They give opportunity for nature study that is unique. Winter woodcraft is one of the most interesting phases of the boy scout program. Nature study gives the boys an entirely new idea of bird life, of the habits of animals and the character of trees. For many boys it is easy enough to identify a tree in summer time when it is in full leaf, but it is an entirely different thing to distinguish between species in the winter time. Also, it is far more interesting to track and study animals in winter time than in summer, when they can easily hide in the foliage.

THOUGHT FOR SCOUT PATROLS.

There is a nature club for boys in Ontario which encourages members to take the names of native birds or animals, even fishes and reptiles, using the Indian version of the name where possible. Fortunately it does not require the boys in every case to take on the characteristics of their animal names. But it might be good practice in nature study to expect every member to be thoroughly informed upon the species from which he takes his club membership name. Each troop of boy scouts is divided into patrol each with a distinguishing name of a natural object, usually some wild animal, and the editor of "Scouting" in commenting on the Ontario club's idea says that this easily leads to the suggestion that patrol names might be utilized far more than they are, as a starting point for debate lines of nature study, leading up to interesting questions when members of patrol present for the benefit of all peculiar facts about the birds or animals represented in the patrol name.

SCOUT EDUCATIONAL TOURS.

Educational tours are becoming popular with boy scouts in many cities. The idea being to visit factories of various kinds, on navigation, learning at first hand how things are made. Recently in Yakima, Wash., one day's tour included a candy factory and a wood-working establishment. There was a full attendance and the scouts indicated that they had the time of the day and nothing to do with it.

A FEW BOY SCOUT GOOD TURN.

Troop No. 6 of Salt Lake City cut up a load of wood for aged people.

Troop No. 5 of Mobile, Ill., gave the credit for having saved other good wood, delivered four loads of building wood to needy families.

The Scouts (Ga.) boy scouts reported to the chairman of the chamber of commerce building the afternoon before Christmas and delivered Christmas baskets to the poor for the Good Turn club.

Boys' Scout News.

"I suppose you," said Uncle Sam, "are a scoutmaster. But I believe I see a boy scouter in the line of a scoutmaster when he is not a scoutmaster."

POLTRY

CAUSE HENS TO LAY BETTER

Matter of Feeding During Cold Weather or Entails Use of Large Amount of Common Sense.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On the feeding of the flocks depends to a large extent not only the general health of the birds, but also the economy which promotes success. It is a subject, however, which should be studied with a large amount of common sense, for there are no hard and fast rules which can be laid down as applying to every case. The price of feeds and the general environment should be considered in determining the right ration, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

For the largest profit a good proportion of the eggs should be secured during the winter. If two extra eggs a week can be obtained from each hen a good profit will be made, while if the product is increased by only one egg a week in winter, this one egg will pay for all the feed the hen eats. To obtain this greater production not only should the fowls be young and of a good laying breed, but the feeder should have full knowledge of the proper feed and its preparation.

The nutriment in the feed of laying hens serves a twofold purpose—to repair waste and furnish heat to the body and to supply the egg-making materials. As only the surplus over what is needed for the body is available for egg production, the proper feeds should be fed in sufficient quantities to induce this production.

In supplying feed to fowls there are three kinds of constituents which should be present in certain fairly well-fixed proportions if the desired results are to be obtained most economically. These constituents are mineral, nitrogenous and carbonaceous; all which are contained in corn, wheat, oats and barley, but not in the right proportions to give the greatest egg yield. In addition some animal feed and green feed should be supplied.

Green Feed is Quite Essential to the Production of Eggs in Winter.

In feeding poultry a valuable lesson may be learned from nature. In spring the production of eggs on the farm is an easy matter. Fowls at liberty to roam find an abundance of green and animal feed on their range, which with grain furnishes a perfect ration for laying hens. In addition to this they get plenty of exercise and fresh air. So far as lies within his power, then, the feeder should aim to make the winter conditions springlike.

RED MITES VERY INJURIOUS

Insects Lower Vitality, Produce Anemia, Reduce Egg Production and Annoy Fowls.

Red mites are blood-sucking insects that live in the houses, in the cracks about the nests, droppings, boards and perches during the day and crawl onto the bodies of the birds at night, doing serious injury. Red mites lower vitality, produce anemia, lower egg production and greatly annoy the hens. They can be easily gotten rid of by painting the infested places in the house with gas tar, diluted with equal parts with kerosene, or by carbolic acid, or one of many good commercial porch paints. It should be kept in mind that the place to fight the mites is the house and not the birds themselves.

CURE FOR EGG-EATING HABIT

Owner Should Make Good Use of An on Hen That Has Acquired Depressed Appetite.

The hen that eats her own eggs and those of other hens has formed a habit that cannot be broken. Out of her head with an ax. A depraved appetite may be acquired by seeing some other hen eat an egg, as one hen learns from another to eat chickens. A lack of food or of grain, especially of some grain, may be a contributing factor.

PROPER SHELTER FOR SHEEP

Animals Do Not Require Expensive Buildings but Must Have Protection from Wind and Sun.

Sheep do not require expensive buildings, but should have some protection from wind and sun. A shed open to the south with a well-drained yard is excellent quarters in which to house sheep.

The confining dormitory walls, the restraints and supervisions of the teachers and watchers, the Indian blood restless for the outdoors, for freedom, were too much, so Allie E. Burton, Choctaw miss of seventeen, ward of Uncle Sam and worth a million dollars in oil lands, answered the call and fled from the Forest Park University of St. Louis. Keeping a steady step with her as she felt her way at midnight to the school's front door was Jessie Hansford, eighteen years old, likewise an heiress and, like the Indian girl, thrilled with the thought of wandering free from any supervision. W. S. Hansford, grandfather of Miss Hansford and for years the friendly adviser to the Indian girl, came to Chicago appealing to the police to help him search the city for the pair of missing girls. They were located in Chicago.

A recent terrific wind and torrential rainstorm conspired to drive this Mississippi steamer on the mud flats. The old vessel, one of the last of the stern-driven variety for which the Mississippi was once famous, has been abandoned by her owners to her fate. Her back is broken and her sides are all wrecked. If another storm should come she will be ready for fire-wood.

NORTH FRONT ST. HAD SMOKY FIRE

Although Hydrants Didn't Work as They Ought to, Firemen Contained Damage in Willis Roe Building to Charred Timbers on Lower Floor and Smoke and Water on Second Floor.

The smokiest fire Kingston has seen in a long time burned out the lower floors of the Willis Roe building on North Front street, between Washington avenue and Converse street, about 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mr. Roe and his family occupy the living rooms on the second floor of the building. Part of the lower floor was used by Mr. Roe as a salesroom for baby chicks and the balance of the same floor was occupied by Simon P. Lyons and Ethan S. Decker as a store room for automobiles. Messrs. Lyons and Decker used the building for storage purposes only at night and during the day the cars they handle, which are principally used cars, are displayed in the large vacant lot alongside the building.

It is probable that one of the lamps in an incubator in the chicken salesroom exploded and caused the fire. Mr. and Mrs. Roe were eating their supper when they smelled smoke and on opening the door at the top of the stairway Mrs. Roe was confronted with a mass of smoke and flames. About the same time neighbors saw the fire and turned in an alarm. Wiltwyck Hose Company was at the scene in less than two minutes from the first tap of the alarm and the hose wagon and truck from the Central Fire Station were only a few minutes behind. There was some delay in getting water as the hydrants did not respond readily when the water-cocks were turned. Besides the oil used in the chick salesroom, there was a quantity of oil in the automobile salesroom, and the huge quantity of dense smoke which poured out of the building caused many people to believe that the gasoline tank was afire. The tank, however, is beneath the sidewalk and was not in any danger. The smoke was so dense and so great in volume that it hid from sight the buildings on the opposite side of the street. The firemen were handicapped in their work by the smoke even though they wore their gas masks but several streams from front and rear quickly controlled and then extinguished the blaze.

The wood siding and ceiling of the two rooms on the lower floor were badly charred but the floor timbers supporting the second floor were not damaged. The glass front was broken and the front of the place was smoked and scorched. The living apartments of the Roe family were damaged by smoke and water. There was no insurance on the building or contents.

Mr. Roe has been a sufferer from rheumatism for several years and walks with difficulty. The fire gained such rapid headway that he had difficulty in getting out of the building. He stumbled at the top of the stairway and fell to the bottom, and to this fact he attributes his escape from being overcome by smoke if not more serious results.

COLONIAL A. C. WAS ORGANIZED

Thursday Evening And Kingston Fans May Be Assured of Some Fast Ball Games This Season—No Sunday Games To Be Played By New Organization.

The Colonial A. C. was organized at a meeting held Thursday evening with Louis Brown, manager; Edward Scherer, secretary and treasurer; and City Judge Harry E. Schirick, as captain. The new ball club will open the season Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field when they cross bats with the fast Clermont A. C. of Newburgh. The game will be called at 4 o'clock. At 2 o'clock Kingston High School plays Newburgh High School.

Judge Schirick stated this morning that it is the intention to use only Kingston players and that games will be staged on Wednesdays and Saturdays. There will be no Sunday games either here or out of town played by the new team.

In order to make baseball a success the new organization will need financial support, and it is expected that the local merchants will contribute to the support of the team. It is also expected that the fans will attend the games and that the ticket sale will be large. It needs money to run a successful ball team, and it is expected that the Colonial A. C. will be supported.

Judge Schirick, who will captain the team is a well known baseball catcher, and was a member of his college team. Among the players on the new team will be City Marshal Art Rice, one of the best known semi-professional players in the Hudson river valley. Jack Robins, Bill McAuliffe, Dick Williams, Edward Scherer, Fred Stoult, Kid Moore, Matty Deegan, Bill Schwab and Leo Fitzgerald, all well known ball players and favorites with the fans.

The Rev. E. D. Cameron of Henryetta, Okla., who has announced that he will soon establish headquarters in New York for the purpose of better organizing a national fight against divorce. Cameron recently resigned his pastorate at Henryetta to become head of the American Anti-Divorce League. He will campaign for national law prohibiting divorce for any reason whatsoever. A resolution has already been introduced in congress as the opening gun in this fight. Cameron was instrumental in getting it before congress.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. M'BRIDE

The King's Daughters Sunday School class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church on Wednesday evening gave a birthday surprise party in honor of Mrs. Bernard McBride. Mrs. McBride had been invited to the party to spend the afternoon and at 6 o'clock she was escorted to the church by the Rev. Harry Cornford, a friend of the family. On being ushered into the King's Daughters' class room, which had been handsomely decorated with American flags and flowers and a color scheme of yellow and white, she found nearly every member of the class assembled to welcome her. Among the guests were the Rev. and Mrs. George M. Cranston, Rev. O. A. Marchant, Rev. Harry Cornford, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Schoenmoes and Mrs. Short.

Tables had been set in the class room and a delicious banquet was served by four young ladies, members of the class, Mrs. B. D. M. Hudson, Mrs. Jason Carl, Mrs. A. Shults and Mrs. S. Johnson. During the evening Mrs. McBride was presented with a handsome bouquet of roses by Mrs. Benjamin Shults.

Mrs. McBride, although much affected, responded feelingly and related many instances of the church and Sunday School in which she and her late husband had been connected. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the class and their guests and was one of the red letter days of the King's Daughters' class, a class which is always doing some excellent thing for a member or another.

"NEW ATTACK OF GREAT DISEASE IS REPORTED"

It has been reported that over 5,000 persons have been attacked with this great destroyer. It is the disease a Man or Woman gets when they get it into their head they want to go fishing. Then nothing can stop them. They put on the old duck, start to dig for tackle and don't find any. Then the race starts. They hit up the trail to Warren's Sporting Goods Store and there they find in abundance anything that is made that is good for fishing. Why don't you try the same thing?

Famous Poem Founded on Fact.
Mrs. Herman's poem "Casablanca" is founded on the death of Louis Casablanca, a French naval officer. As captain of the flagship Orient, he commanded the fleet which transported Napoleon to Egypt. In the battle of Abukir, Admiral Bruyes was killed and Casablanca was put in command. He was wounded and the ship caught fire, but still he remained at his post. His 10-year-old son would not leave his father and both were killed when the ship was blown up.
